This year Hampton Public School, Hampton, Nebraska, won FIRST place with a story titled "Saving for An Emergency" written by Cadance Enderie, Drake Schafer, Kaeli Gunderson, Landon Parsley and Jake Arndt. These young writers are in 4th and 5th grade, their project coordinator was Margo LaBrie. First place school received a $1,000.00 award.

SECOND place went to a cooperative effort between two home Schools, Jaquez Home School and Walter Academy, Lincoln, Nebraska. The story "Saving Makes Cents" was written by Nathan Jaquez and Scarlett Walter. Their story indirectly discussed the challenges, and benefits, between just getting something you want verses working hard and saving for the item, in this case a bike. The writers are in the 4th grade, project coordinator was Shelley Jaquez. Second place received a $750.00 award.

Third Place went to Hampton Public School, Hampton, Nebraska with their story titled "Nest Egg," written by Kaylei Joseph, Judd Alberts, Brea Heeren, Rorie Loveland and Lexie Wolinski. This cleverly illustrated story discusses why you should "build" a nest egg, where you should "place" your nest egg, and even "how to" build a nest egg. The 4th & 5th grade and their project coordinator was Margo LaBrie. Third place received a $500.00 award.

There were five Honorable Mention winners who received $150.00 each for their schools.

"We're so pleased to see so many schools continuing with this effort. Financial education is a key element to a fruitful life. You just never know what event will spark the next Warren Buffet or Michael Bloomberg, " stated Jim Malmberg ACCESS' Director. "This being our third year, seeing what the children are writing, pushes us even harder to expand our program quickly into the higher grades. This next year we hope to have sponsors for the contest and we invite any banks or local businesses to contact us if they are interested. This is a very exciting program and details are available now. Again, congratulations to all the 2014 winners. Job well done! "
