

Why does inaccurate information reappear on my credit report?

Due to automation, sometimes inaccurate information can reappear. This is due to the original credit grantor resubmitting incorrect information. The Credit Reporting Agency only has control over the printed report, not what the credit grantor reports. This is why we recommend you work with the original credit grantor to get it resolved.